Little extracts of that familiar song, "Won't You Come Home, Bill Bailey," were sung in the grand stand at Washington Park yesterday afternoon. Once in a while it was, "Won't You Go Home, Bill Balley," but these interpolations were only rendered when the spectators saw a faint chance of Indianapolis losing the game to Columbus. The Ohio capital fans are no doubt humming the old tune this morning, for Indianapolis captured the game by a score of 4 to 3. Uncertainties of baseball have helped to make it the most popular sport in America. Those who witnessed the slow and tiresome game on Monday played by Columbus could hardly believe the same aggregation was in the field yesterday against Indianapolis. The contest was fast and snappy and was played in almost half the time that was required to play the draggy game on Monday. The Indianapoeam played an errorless contest, while Columbus was charged with only two errors. Fortunately for Indianapolis, those two errors cut a big figure in the Hoosiers'

A tall young man from Minneapolis was on the slab for Indianapolis. His name is Newlin and he impressed the spectators as ng capable of doing all that is expected of him. It was the first championship contest he has pitched in this city for Indianand his work was watched with great interest. Being young, he was not roof against the desire to be too anxious. placed him in two or three bad holes, but he pitchced himself out of the ruts in admirable style. A base on balls in the second inning helped Columbus to register two tailles and in the seventh he hit Arndt, which resulted in a score, but there were many times during the game that he used the judgment of an old League pitcher and failed to give the visitors a chance to send a man around the circuit.

lewlin was afforded superb support, three double plays helping to put the Senators out of business in as many innings. The putfield had little to do, but the four men on the edge of the sod gathered in everything that came near them. O'Brien ed in several pretty plays and Tamsett and Fox did their work well ley was on the slab for Columbus. He almost as familiar to the Indianapolis ins as one of the home pitchers, and the posiers take great delight in winning from him. An element of luck figured in he champions' victory, as Bailey's curves were not easily solved. Clever base run-ning, especially the long slides by Hog-riever in the eighth inning, also helped to ce Indianapolis on the winning side logriever led the batting for Indianapod secured two hits, one of them a ble. He also scored two of the four runs. Newlin helped to win his own game with a single in the third, scoring later on Fox's double. Roach was the only visitor who found Newlin for more than one hit. Five others found him for singles. HOW CHAMPIONS WON. Columbus went to bat first and only three Senators faced Newlin. Hart, Bridwell and Williams were the three victims to succumb to his curves. The champions took the lead in the second half by scoring one tally. Hogriever picked out one of Bill Barley's easy ones and sent it to right or two bases. Fox sacrificed him to third nd Jones's fly to Hart scored him. Kihm it to Bridwell, dying at the initial sack. The Senators showed some energy when went to bat in the first of the secnd. They awakened to the fact that the oosiers would have another walkaway if did not do some willow work. They ook the lead for a brief spell by scoring two tallies on a base on balls to Raymer, dt's two-bagger and Roach's single. dianapolis tied the score in the last of the second. Coulter shipped a long fly to right, which Arndt muffed, Coulter reaching third. He scored on O'Brien's fly to Hart.

Fast fielding prevented Columbus from coring in the third. Hart walked, but was forced at second by Bridwell. Wilms skipped a fast grounder to Fox. The is captain touched Bridwell with he ball and then threw to Kihm, completing a double play. The Hoosiers went one to the good in the last half. Newlin drove single through the pitcher's box and went second on Hogriever's infield chance. Fox bounced one just inside the third base and Kihm retired on flies to Arndt. Two singles and a sacrifice were regis-tered by Columbus in the fourth, but an ttempt to steal proved disastrous and O'Brien made a beautiful play on Arndt's chance, retiring the side.

VISITORS TIED THE SCORE. There was no more scoring until the first of the seventh, when the visitors tied the score on a peculiar play. Turner, the first man up, was easily retired. Newlin hit Arndt, who went to third on Roach's single to right. Kihm caught Bailey's fly and made a pretty throw to the plate, but Umpire Haskell claimed that Tamsett inter-fered with Arndt and allowed the run to score. Roach tried to go to second and was thrown out. The Hoosiers failed to tally in the last half.

Columbus caused much anxiety in the first of the eighth when a hit would have cored two runs. Hart started with a single Bridwell forcing him at second. Williams singled to right, Bridwell going to third. Williams pilfered second and the spectators ame slightly worried. Kihm caught Raymer's hy and the lans breathed a hitse er's fly and the fans breathed a little disastrous. Coulter relieved the strain by ting under Mellor's long fly. The Hoosers again benefited by an error in the last of the eighth and scored the winning Hogriever hit a long fly to center, which Hart muffed. Hogriever reached second on the error. Fox's sacrifice advanced the Indianapolis sunfielder to third. Jones then sent a fly to right and Hogriever, by a long slide, scored the winning run. Kihm's out retired the side. After Turner nt out in the ninth Arndt walked and tried to steal second on the third strike on Boach, but Heydon's throw to O'Brien ended the game. The score:

Leonard Says Hickey Has No Power to Award Forfeited Game to Toledo.

DOESN'T LIKE RULING.

The recent ruling made by President Hickey in awarding the protested game between Columbus and Toledo at Toledo last Wednesday to Toledo is not according to the rules, in the opinion of Manager Leonard, of the Columbus club. Manager Leonard said last night, in discussing the ruling, that the only decision President Hickey should have made was to throw the game out and order the teams to play it again. The Toledo club protested the game because Clingman played with Columbus and Columbus won by a score of 2 to 0. Manager Leonard believes the matter was one for the board of directors to have decided, and it is possible the Columbus club may take action to have President Hickey's ruling set aside. "Bobby" Quinn, business manager of the Columbus club, has written to President Hickey telling him that the Columbus club does not want the credit of the forefeited game of last Saturday which was given to Columbus by President Hickey. Quinn has asked President Hickey to change his ruling and order the two clubs to play the game next Monday, which is an open date. Quinn says his club does not want to win games on forfeits. Manager Leonard, in discussing the Cling-man case, says that he is sure Clingman will not go to St. Paul. He believes it possible that Clingman will again become a member of the Columbus team before long.

ADOPTS FOUL STRIKE RULE.

Commercial League Will Play Under

At the meeting of the Commercial Baseball League last night the foul-strike rule was adopted. The umpires were given strict instructions to observe fair play in all decisions. All the teams will be uniformed in the next games. The league decided to offer a $50 trophy for the team finishing first, and a suitable prize will be given for the second

Bested Willie Fitzgerald in a Twenty-

The fight was remarkable because of the clean breakaways and the fairness of the contestants. According to the agreement, they were at liberty to fight at all times so long as they did not hit below the belt, and were required to protect themselves in the clinches and mix-ups. In spite of this agreement they broke cleanly every time at the suggestion of the referee, and there was not the slightest tinge of unfairness on either side. Britt finished the fight without a mark on him, and Fitzgerald was also in good condition, although showing a few marks on his face and red spots on his

ATTORNEY FOLK'S METHOD.

He Leads His Victims Into Ambush and Surprises Them.

Kansas City Journal. Two state senators were in Kansas City yesterday, one of them having during the interesting. This senator rigidly enforced suppression of his name, be to divulge anything that had happened in the grand jury room while he was in it, and this accounts for his identity being undisclosed here. This senator was sup posed popularly to have been more than sentimentally interested in the defeat of a bill to regulate the stockyards. he went to St. Louis it was supposed that he was wanted to tell about the stockyards deal. He thought so, too, and was prepared for it. However, just before going into the grand jury room he was closeted with Mr. Folk, and during that thirty mi utes not one word was mentioned of the stockyards affair. Instead, everything was directed to the alum discussion. No one ever expected that this senator knew much about the real inside of the alum deal. Ordinarily when a witness goes into a grand jury room he finds everything running in a leisurely fashion and business at room. No sooner had the victim entere the room than Folk said to the jury, as he waived one hand towards the incoming witness: "This is Senator Blank, of Blank county centlemen. Please be seated, Mr. Blank, Hold up your hand and be sworn." while the oath is being administered. Before the witness has time to say, "I will," he heard Folk lead off:

"Your name is Senator Blank; you resid in Blank county, and were a member of the Forty-fifth General Assembly of the State of Missouri. You will tell the jury just what you said When Senator Blanker spoke to you about his having been offered $1,000 for his vote on the stockyard bill." There was the Folk ambush in the very first breath. The witness had been blind folded in Folk's room for half an hour by talk about alum, and while he was still thinking about that and framing up rep to make, he was pulled up short with a demand for what he knew about the stockyards bill.

The senator declined to tell of other ar hushes into which he was led, but he said they were many and most treacherous "Just as I finished my statement," said
